The grand excursion down the Southern Road yesterday was one of the most delightful trips that one could be on. The order aboard the train was excellent. A like excursion from Somerset met the Cincinnati tourists at High Bridge, when a high old time was spent for a few hours in riding around the lofty bridge, climbing precipices, and scaling "Jacob's Ladder" until all were tired enough to take a seat in the fine coaches for a homeward jaunt. The time made from High Bridge to Cincinnati, (including all stopping places) was three hours and a half. But one thing, which cheap railroad fare, only remains to make the romantic bridge locality a popular summer resort for Sunday excursionists, and that is hotel or restaurant accommodations, and a little music to enliven affairs. Conductor Shadley was the recipient of high praise from all for his kind care and urbanity. Capt. John Murphy was along, doing all in his power to make everybody aboard happy, and last, though not least, the boss of the "White Elephant," M.G., was on hand, as happy as a clown at high tide. Excursion got home at half past 7 p. m., well pleased with the trip.

SECRETARY QUARTET CLUB.

A season of sacred opera is promised us shortly by Professor R. W. Seager, famous for his great success in producing the bright cantatas "Queen Esther," "Daniel" and "Belshazzar's Feast." He states his plans as follows:

In about one week he will call for a chorus of two hundred ladies and gentlemen who possess both vocal and dramatic taste, to whom he and assistants, Messrs. Donson, Portius and Parr, will give a four weeks' course of vocal, dramatic and elocutionary training, closing with a series of entertainments in gorgeous Oriental costumes before audiences of six thousand people. That is it in a nutshell. Mr. Seager brings strong credentials. He is a tremendous worker and a careful manager. His enterprises in Western as well as New England cities have been eminently successful, the sedate though reliable Boston Post professing that during the summer "the reigning musical triumphs throughout New England."

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

Well-a-day! If that is so, I will go this minute and get some for my poor George. I know hops are good!"

THE HARRISON HORROR.

Finding of Young Devin's Clothes.

At 9 o'clock this morning a search warrant was sworn out before Squire Schwab, by the brother of Augustus Devin, for the purpose of making another search for the body of Devin, who was resurrected shortly before the body of Mr. Harrison.

A search was immediately begun. Constable Sam. Bloom, Inspector Wapenstein, Gen. Ben. Harrison, and the brother of young Augustus made up the party.

The proceeded to the Ohio Medical College, and were at first refused admittance, but on presenting the warrant they were allowed to make the search after being informed that there were no bodies in the building.

Upon entering the picking room, however, three bodies were found in the vault, and in the garret, hid away were several articles of clothing, which the parties claimed were those of young Devin.

The clothing was taken away, and the search will be continued in the cellar of the building, where they are in hopes of finding some of the remains of the body.

These clothes, Mr. Harrison claims, were in the possession of the faculty, and it is said that no one else could be held responsible for them.

It was so intimated that several warrants would be sworn out soon.

A CHANCE FOR BALD HEADS.

Their Day of Deliverance Has Dawned.

This is the age of wonders—wonders in science, wonders in mechanism, wonders in the domain of the human mind. It has been said that the man who causes two blades of grass to grow where only one grew before is a public benefactor. What, then, shall be said of the man who causes a full and luxuriant crop of hair to grow upon the barren and shining pate of the large army of baldheads who have well nigh despaired of ever having a natural covering for their heads again? What place, in a word, shall be assigned to the discoverer of "Carboline"? Shall he not have a conspicuous niche in the Temple of Fame, and stand first among the benefactors of his race? To impart new life and vigor to the dormant energies of a diseased scalp, to give strength and fullness to a weak and straggling growth of hair, to bleach back the natural color and gloss to bleached and faded locks, are no ordinary achievements, since chemists and therapists have sought in vain to accomplish them for centuries. All honor, then, to the discoverer of the new hair restorative, Carboline, and let one and all join in expressing a higher appreciation of the uses and possibilities of that wonderful product of petroleum, which contains the elements that work such mysterious and gratifying changes.
